

Next Moves in a Global Economy: Podcasts from the 2007 Wharton Economic Summit

Published : May 23, 2007 in Knowledge@Wharton

During the recent 2007 Wharton Economic Summit, Knowledge@Wharton recorded nine podcasts with speakers and panelists at the event, whose theme was "Next Moves in a Global Economy." The interviews are with Jeffrey R. Lurie, owner of the Philadelphia Eagles Football Club; Shellye L. Archambeau, CEO of MetricStream; Ramkrishan (Remi) Hinduja, chairman of HTMT Global Solutions, together with Sashi P. Reddi, CEO of Applabs Technologies; Marc Utay, managing director of Clarion Capital Partners; Kenneth Shropshire, director of the Wharton Sports Business Initiative; Shiv V. Khemka, vice chairman, SUN Group; Clark Callander, managing director of Savvian; Amy Errett, CEO of Olivia, and William L. Mack, senior principal, Apollo Real Estate Advisors.

This is a single/personal use copy of Knowledge@Wharton. For multiple copies, custom reprints, e-prints, posters or plaques, please contact PARS International: reprints@parsintl.com P. (212) 221-9595 x407.

Please select an interview from the player list to begin.

If you have iTunes, you can subscribe with one click:
<http://knowledge.wharton.upenn.edu/weblink/187.cfm>

If you have your favorite podcast source, the url is:
<http://knowledge.wharton.upenn.edu/podcastcurrent.xml>

The files will be available for download, one at a time, over the next two weeks. They can be found either in iTunes or the podcast feed.

This is a single/personal use copy of Knowledge@Wharton. For multiple copies, custom reprints, e-prints, posters or plaques, please contact PARS International: reprints@parsintl.com P. (212) 221-9595 x407.